

AIRAC Publications Overview

Purpose and scope

The purpose of this web site is to offer an overview of the AIS AIRAC publications world-wide, for the next several cycles. This page was started in the context of the COVID-19 crisis, when some States decided to prioritise certain changes to the aeronautical environment due to lack of staff or other technical or operational reasons. An overview of the AIRAC publications issued or intended for the next few cycles might help in the planning of resources required to process the data on the AIS clients side.

Considering the positive feedback received from various organisations, we intend to continue maintaining this site in 2021.

! Please consult NOTAM and official State AIS sources for latest information. The purpose of this web site is to share information, not to replace the official sources!

How to contribute

Please use the following e-mail address in order to send us information about your State AIS AIRAC publications: airac.aim@eurocontrol.int. We are in particular interested in information about intended AIRAC publications for the cycles of November and December 2021.

Hints

- You can click on the columns headers in order to sort the data by the content of each column.
- You can export the whole page in Word/PDF formats (see the menu at top right). This will give the full page content.
- You can export just the table content in Excel, by selecting all the cells, excluding the heading row. Click in the first cell, then select all the cells down to the last one. Then copy and paste in Excel. Please note that, depending on the Excel version that you are using, some extra empty lines will be added. This can be avoided if you copy/paste first in Google Sheets and then again copy/paste into Excel. Alternatively, you can use the Excel exports that are attached to this page. The file name indicates when the extraction took place. Please check if there are more recent updates on the page!
